

EVELYN FAMA'

LONG BIOGRAPHY

She starts her career as a dancer. Later, she graduated at the Academy of Dramatic Art Umberto Spadaro at the Teatro Stabile di Catania, improving her acting and singing skills. Her resume as actress shows names that are internationally known, directors such as: Marco Baliani, Jean Claude Penchenat, Eimuntas Nekrosius, Luca Ronconi, Lamberto Puggelli, Alvaro Piccardi, Franco Però, Armando Pugliese, Michele Mirabella, Alessandro di Robilant, Luca Lucini... and important awards. She wins in 2001, the "International Award "Salvo Randone" (SR), in 2004 the award "Hystrio" alla vocazione (MI), in 2009 the 18th edition of the National Festival of Cabaret in Turin and "Ernst Thole Award" for the most original interpretation. Among many international tour she is been part of, is due to mention: "Chantecler" (winner of three Olympic Theatre award), "The Long Life of Marianna Ucria", "Hecuba" playing the role of "Polyxena" alongside with Paola Gassman and, during the hundred anniversary of INDA, "Le Toriane" ("Verso Argo"), playing the role of Cassandra.

Among all the protagonists she interpreted during her career she was in "Alda" in "Tra I Vestiti che Ballano" by Rosso di San Secondo with Ida Carrara, she was also "Mirra" in "Mirra" by V. Alfieri, Jane Hopcroft in "Natale in cucina".

For film and television she plays the role of Palmira Frisone, in the film for RAI TV directed by G. Albano, "Il figlio della luna". She also co-starred in a comic role with Nino Frassica in the movie "Un Milione di Giorni" directed by Manuel Giliuberti (available on Netflix), leading role also for the docudrama "The Voice of the body" by Luca Vullo (Film d'Essai) and for the motion picture "Mauro is Busy" directed by Alessandro di Robilant. She also worked for TV shows on Sky TV, in a comic sitcom "Phone centre Brambilla"(for Jimmy channel) and was also part of the cast of "Bambine Cattive" for 8 episodes aired on Comedy Central.

Moreover, she was also testimonial for the commercial for seasonal tickets Catania Calcio 2008 and in 2013 for "Supermarket LIDL"(Sicilian oranges), directed by Luca Lucini.

Female lead role in numerous comic-grotesque short films by A. Marinaro, among them the short film "MOTORE!" Winner of "The 25th Hour" of "La7tv" (defined the "8 ½" of the 2000 shorts movies) in which she has a cameo.

Since 2007 she perform in the play "Morir di Fama", directed by Carlo Ferreri, receiving amazing reviews from critics and audience. Also presented in one of the seasons at the famous Cafè Sconcerto in Venice, in collaboration with Zelig. With snippets from her show Evelyn won (besides the aforementioned F.N.D.C. of Turin) also a special mention for the interpretation at the "Calandra award" and the Rubens award - the great Sicilians in the world

(MI). Her career is also enriched by Musicals and operettas: the famous "Pipino il breve" with the leading role of "Falista", "Il Pipistrello" by Strauss with Solenghi and Micheli in the role of mezzo-soprano "Ida". Not to mention the folkloristic Sicilian theatre with Tuccio Musumeci and in many important theatrical companies playing, in more than once, the young actress's role.

SHORT BIOGRAPHY

She graduates at the academy of dramatic art of Stabile Theater in Catania. She works in movies, theatre and television with internationally acclaimed directors such as: Baliani, Penchenat, Nekrosius, Ronconi, Puggelli, Pugliese, Mirabella, di Robilant, Lucini, winning internationally renowned awards like, "Hystrio alla vocazione", the Cabaret National Festival in Turin and the Ernst Thole Award for the most original interpretation, to mention a few. Her career in movies and theater includes playing roles such as: Palmira Frisone in "The Moon's Son" and co-protagonist in "One million days" directed by M. Giliberti with Nino Frassica, leading actress in "Mauro is Busy" directed by A. di Robilant. She also played important roles in TV shows aired on Comedy Central and Jimmy Channel. Since 2007 she keeps interpret her comic monologue "Morir di fama" winning the Rubens Award - given to great Sicilians around the world. Her acting experience is enhanced by the famous musical "Pipino il Breve" with Tuccio Musumeci where she played the role of "Falista".